

WHAT ARE COOKIES?

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that is downloaded on to your computer when you visit a website. Cookies are used by many websites and can do a number of things, e.g., remembering your preferences and counting the number of people looking at a website.

HOW DO WE USE COOKIES?

We use cookies on this website for the following purposes:

- Analytical purposes. Analytical cookies allow us to recognize, measure, and track visitors to our website. This helps us to improve and develop the way our website works (e.g., determining whether site visitors can find information easily or by identifying the aspects of the site that are of the most interest to them).
- Terms and conditions. We use cookies on our website to record when a site visitor has seen a policy, such as this one, or provided consent, such as consent to the terms and conditions on our website. This helps to improve the user's experience of our website. For example, it avoids a user from repeatedly being asked to consent to the same terms.
- Third party cookies. When you visit our website, you may receive cookies that are set by third parties. These cookies are used for the purposes described in the bullet points above. We do not control the setting of these third-party cookies, so we suggest you might wish to check the third-party websites for more information about their use of cookies and how to manage them.
- Amending Internet browser settings to disable cookies. You can configure your browser to accept all cookies, reject all cookies, notify you when a cookie is set, or delete cookies that have already been set. Each browser is different, so check the "Help" menu of your browser to learn how to change your cookie preferences. You are always free to decline our cookies if your browser permits, although in that case you may not be able to use certain features on our website. In addition, a number of companies offer utilities designed to help you visit websites anonymously.
